Honored to be the featured quilter for one of her guild's shows. She most enjoys making quilts of comfort for various causes and organizations, often using garden-inspired designs to reflect a sense of community and growth. Gina started sewing at age 12 when her grandmother gave her a sewing machine. It was love at first stitch and has been a creative outlet for her ever since. Her quilts have been published in national magazines and books. She uses the HQ Stitch 510™ machine for her piecing and hand quilted for her longarm. Her quilts have won awards at many major shows. Several of her designs have been featured on her blog, The Last Stitch, and her work has been seen in various publications.

Mary Beth Krapil has been an avid sewer since childhood, teaching quilting classes since 1998. Her goal is to share her passion for quilting with others and inspire them to create. She has published dozens of patterns, including her own book, "Vanessa's Treasures: 25 Quilts and More". She has authored two other books, "Charm School - 18 Quilts from 5'' Squares" and "Jelly Roll Quilts". Vanessa is also known for her creative fabric designs, which can be found in her line, Blake Designs fabric lines on her blog at TaraReed.com. Her art can be found on everything from coffee mugs to wall art, floor mats to dinnerware and everything in between.

Melissa loves designing and finds inspiration in just about everything and anything. She has a particular passion for quilting and has published works, a pattern line, and even her own books, "Irish Chain Quilts" and "Charming Baby Quilts". She also enjoys teaching and sharing her knowledge, which is another favorite pastime. Melissa, her husband and their two girls have a large and growing pattern collection to their name, with more than 175 million views to date. Melissa is a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, Flamingo Fabric & Quilt. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.

Vanessa began to love sewing. She started her pattern company, Little Lizard King in 2009 in an effort to teach others to enjoy the art of quilting. Her designs have been featured in numerous publications and have received awards for their creativity and innovation. Vanessa is also known for her love of drawing and sewing with her kids or searching for miniscule shells at the beach. In her free time, she enjoys working on her latest projects and brainstorming new ideas.

Judy started a Certification Program for Shops and Instructors that has helped her give those interested in quilting the opportunity to learn from the best. She has been quilting for over 30 years. It is through those classes that she has learned invaluable techniques and skills that she has shared with others. Judy started with sewing and quilting for her grandchildren, and it evolved into a career that she loves every day. She has been quilting and teaching for 20 years, and has been a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, quiltscapesqs.com. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.

Chelsi Stratton is the daughter of Amanda Castor and has been a part of the quilting world for over 20 years. She began her pattern company, Thimble Blossoms, in 2007, and has since grown it into a successful business. Chelsi is a certified pattern designer at Little Lizard King. As a mom of four, she finds time to draft new designs and stitch them up. She loves creating quilts that are cute and pretty, yet useful for everyday life. She has appeared on several different television shows, in a variety of magazines, written their own quilting book, created a line of quilting and sewing patterns, and is a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, quiltscapesqs.com. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.

Amanda Niederhauser is a Southern California mom to three children and has been quilting for 20 years. She began her pattern company, Thimble Blossoms, in 2007, and has since grown it into a successful business. Chelsi is a certified pattern designer at Little Lizard King. As a mom of four, she finds time to draft new designs and stitch them up. She loves creating quilts that are cute and pretty, yet useful for everyday life. She has appeared on several different television shows, in a variety of magazines, written their own quilting book, created a line of quilting and sewing patterns, and is a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, quiltscapesqs.com. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.

Amanda Castor is the mother of Chelsi Stratton and has been quilting for over 20 years. She began her pattern company, Thimble Blossoms, in 2007, and has since grown it into a successful business. Amanda is a certified pattern designer at Little Lizard King. As a mom of four, she finds time to draft new designs and stitch them up. She loves creating quilts that are cute and pretty, yet useful for everyday life. She has appeared on several different television shows, in a variety of magazines, written their own quilting book, created a line of quilting and sewing patterns, and is a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, quiltscapesqs.com. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.

Jenny has been quilting for over 20 years. She began her pattern company, Thimble Blossoms, in 2007, and has since grown it into a successful business. Chelsi is a certified pattern designer at Little Lizard King. As a mom of four, she finds time to draft new designs and stitch them up. She loves creating quilts that are cute and pretty, yet useful for everyday life. She has appeared on several different television shows, in a variety of magazines, written their own quilting book, created a line of quilting and sewing patterns, and is a member of the RBD Project Design team, and shares those projects and tutorials on her blog, quiltscapesqs.com. She resides in Eagle Mountain, Utah.